47 PEOPLE KILLED IN B. & O. WRECK

Frightful Scenes Follow Crash of Trains.

LIST OF INJURED REACHES FIFTY

Danger Signals Were Obscured by Fog—Train Passed Signal Board Running at Speed of 60 Miles an Hour and Crashed in Rear End.

Washington, Jan. 1.—The total number of killed in the rear-end collision on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad at Terracotta, D. C., a block station three miles from Washington, Sunday night, is estimated at about 47 and the number of injured at 50.

The wreck was caused by an engine drawing eight empty cars running into Local No. 66, known as the Frederick express, just as the passenger train had pulled out from the station bound for this city. Engineer Hildebrand, who was in charge of the "dead" train and who was arrested shortly after the disaster, declares that on account of the dense fog he was unable to distinguish the signal light at Takoma Park block station. Tower Operator Philips declares that the danger signal was in its proper place and that Engineer Hildebrand's train passed the tower station going at a speed of from 50 to 60 miles an hour.

At 8 o'clock Monday morning there were eight unidentified bodies at the morgue.

Scores of persons visited the morgue Sunday night, and early Monday morning to assist in the identification of the unknown dead there.

The total number of bodies carried into the morgue shortly after midnight was thirty-two, but several of the identified have been turned over to undertaking establishments to be prepared for burial. Most of the victims were residents of Washington and suburbs.

Coroner Nevitt, who went to the scene of the wreck to view the remains of the dead and to secure statements from injured passengers will begin the inquest.

The members of the crew of the train causing the wreck were placed under arrest by the local police. They are Harry Hildebrand, engineer; F. Hoffmier, conductor; J. C. McCullom, fireman; Robert Rutter, brakeman, and W. A. Norris, baggagemaster. All were taken to the Tenth precinct police station.

The officials of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, who were unable to fix the responsibility for the disaster Sunday night began investigation at Baltimore Monday.

The scene after the accident was sickening. Bodies had been hurled on every side and it was after midnight before all the dead had been collected and placed on the special train to be brought to this city. It was only a few minutes after the collision until nearly all the residents of Terracotta, a sparsely settled village, had gathered at the scene of the disaster and begun the work of removing the dead and rescuing the injured from beneath the masses of debris. The workers labored under great difficulties, for many of the injured were wedged beneath the wreckage and numbers of them died before they could be rescued.

Many acts of sacrifice were performed which will never be known. A detachment of forty policemen were sent from Washington and nearly 50 physicians from this city and the suburbs responded to a general call but fully three-quarters of an hour had elapsed before the doctors were on hand to relieve the injured. For more than three hours after the fatal crash occurred the police and citizens were still taking bodies from under the great pile of wreckage, which was strewn for fully a quarter of a mile along the track. As the injured were taken from under the debris and while the physicians were [illegible] all [illegible] relief possible [illegible] the last rites to many of the dying. Everything possible was done to relieve the sufferings of the injured.

Lying in a critical condition on a cot at Providence hospital, Frederick Leigh, a brakeman, on the ill-fated passenger train, gasped out his story of the wreck.

"When we passed Kensington the danger signals were hoisted and we were told to move along cautiously," he said. "When we hit Takoma, the signals were still out, and we left the station slowly and proceeded to Terra Cotta, our next stop.

"The signals were out at Terracotta, and we took aboard a few passengers and started to pull out for Washington, when the train following hit the back coach and smashed it into splinters."

J. C. Macklin, a Washington jeweler, who was treated at a hospital, declared that when the train was leaving Takoma, he was "haunted by a presentiment that something was going to happen. This fear was only increased when the signals were shown, urging our train to be cautious."

Interesting Case Decided.

Paris, Jan. 1.—A case that is interesting husbands and dressmakers has been decided by the courts. A fashionable dressmaker demanded several thousands dollars for a score of gowns furnished to a woman in two months and sued the husband and wife to recover. In its decision, the court pointed out that even if the husband gives the wife authority to purchase toilettes it must be presumed that he intends to be reasonable. It rules that it is the duty of the dressmaker to inquire whether orders given by the wife accord with the husband's financial and social status. Tradesmen are also cautioned to show prudence and reserve when apparently exaggerated orders are given. The court reduced the demand of the dressmaker almost one-half.

Murder Case Called.

Atlanta, Jan. 1.—Charged with complicity in the killing of John Dodgen, a bailiff, who was found dead on the porch of a Marietta street lodging house with a bullet in his head, Mrs. Willie Stamper, Mrs. Bessie Gary, Miss Addie Goss and C. A. Jordan were arraigned for a preliminary trial Monday morning before Judge L. S. Roan, of the Fulton superior court, criminal division. The four defendants were arrested in the house after the finding of Dodgen's body, and have been held since Dec. 16 by order of the coroner's jury.

Railroad Receivers Ousted.

Mobile, Ala., Jan. 1.—At 11 a. m. Monday F. E. Dewey and J. L. Danieler, receivers, of the Mobile, Jackson and Kansas City railroad, were ousted from possession of the property on an order issued from the chancery court. The action superceding the action of Dec. 26th, was due to the fact that an application for an appeal was made to the supreme court. The bond in the case was fixed at $100,000. The old management who was ousted on Wednesday night last have assumed charge of the property.

Immense Amount for Diamonds.

New York, Jan. 1.—Upwards of $43,000,000 has been paid for diamonds and other precious stones imported at New York in the present year as shown by the reports compiled by the customs authorities preliminary to the annual report to be sent to Washington. This exceeds that of the last calendar year by $6,000,000. Since 1868, when the first gem was exported from the cape of Good Hope, the United States has paid, according to figures just compiled, about $325,000,000 for diamonds.

Press Comment Varied.

Paris, Jan. 1.—The ancient bishopric of Lucon, it is announced, has been transferred to LaRoche-Sur-Yon, thus closing the religious history of France. Lucon was created a bishopric in 1317 and Cardinal Richelieu was one of the incumbents of the see until he became the dominating feature in the politics of France. Press comment on the new law continues varied.

FOR ROOSEVELT FORAKER IS LOADED

Senator Will Push His Fight for Negro Soldiers.

TO PROCEED WITH MANY BILLS

Congressmen Are Returning to Washington Very Slowly, and It Is Not Likely that Anything Will Be Done During Present Week.

Washington, Jan. 1.—Congress will reconvene after the Christmas recess at 12 o'clock Thursday, but it is not expected that much business will be transacted in either house until the week following. No program so far, has been arranged for either body, and the general expectation is that nothing will be done in that direction until the houses are called together. There has seldom been such an exodus of public men for a brief respite from work as there was when the recess began, and as the members are returning very slowly, there is not a sufficient number of either senators or representatives in the city even to outline a plan of action.

The purpose is, in a general way, to proceed with the appropriation bills as rapidly as possible, but as neither house has one of these measures before it, both will be forced to take up other matters of legislation or adjourn from day to day until the committee can bring in some of the supply measures. It may, therefore, happen that one or both of the houses may adjourn from Thursday or Friday until the following Monday. This will depend upon the wishes of members who have pet measures that they desire to press

It is known to be Senator Forsker's wish to secure early consideration by the senate of his resolution for a senatorial investigation of the Brownsville, Tex., episode, in which the discharged negro troops of the Twenty-fifth regiment are accused of participating, and he has been devoting much of the time of recess for preparation for the continuance of his discussion of this subject. It is understood to be his intention to proceed as soon as the senate is prepared to have him do so, but if, as seems likely, the attendance during the first few days of the renewed session should be meager, he may ask for a postponement until the senatorial seats generally are occupied.

The question of Senator Smoot's eligibilityy is also in condition to be considered by the senate, but as Senator Foraker is counted upon by the Utah senator's friends to lead in his defense, it is understood that the question will be deferred for a time, if not definitely. There is a growing disposition among senators to postpone ation on the Smoot matter, and predictions that the session will be permitted to pass without a vote are not infrequent. Mr. Smoot, however, is very solicitous for a ballot, and his wishes may be permitted to prevail.

By unanimous consent the senate will vote on Jan. 12th on Senator LaFollette's bill placing a limitation on the duration of the employment of railway operatives, and that measure is now in position to be called up for discussion at any time.

The next appropriation bill to be reported to the house will be the fortifications bill, and this will be followed by the bill making appropriations for the District of Columbia, but neither will be ready for consideration before the 10th of January.

Drew Razor Across Throat.

Greensboro, Ga., Jan. 1.—John D. Barnes, at Siloam, 7 miles from here, committed suicide. His wife went to call him for breakfast and found him lying in a pool of blood, his throat being cut from ear to ear. A razor, with which the deed was committed, was lying by his side. No cause can be given for the deed, unless it was ill health. He had been sick for some time, and seemed very despondent over it. He was 45 years old, and leaves a wife and eight children.

SENATOR CAFFERY DEAD.

Prominent Louisianian Who Did Much to Upbuild His State.

New Orleans, La., Jan. 1—Former Senator Donelson L. Caffery died at 10:20 o'clock Sunday night.

Senator Caffery was stricken with stomach trouble on Dec. 18. A few days later an acute kidney disease developed, and since that time the life of the aged statesman had been repeatedly despaired of. When the end came Mr. Caffery was surrounded by two daughters and two sons. A third son, a lieutenant in the army, serving in the Philippines, was unable to be here.

Senator Caffery's career was identified with some of the greatest movements of the south, both business and political. During the civil war he earned a reputation for daring. In an attempt to blow up federal gunboats in Atchafalaya bay, Louisiana, he swam the bay in the night, pushing ahead of him, with the aid of a long pole, a specially manufactured torpedo. Despite repeated bumpings against the man-of-war's side with the aid of the pole, the torpedo failed to explode and Mr. Caffery swam to shore without having been discovered. He rose to the rank of first lieutenant and served as a staff officer of Major General W. W. Walker.

Senator Caffery was one of the leaders of the movement to rid this state of the carpetbaggers. In one famous instance he was tried in a United States court on a charge of conspiring to drive a republican of northern birth out of this section of the country. He was acquitted.

Senator Caffery became one of the principal upbuilders of the Louisiana sugar industry, being a leader in establishing the modern system of central sugar houses.

He first came into political prominence as one of the framers of the constitution of this state. In 1892 he was appointed to the United States senate to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Randall L. Gibson, was later elected by the Louisiana legislature. His nomination for the vice presidency by the gold democrats in 1900 was the last event of importance in his political career.

Seven Hundred Foot Tower.

New York, Jan. 1.—Announcement has been made of the awarding of the contract for the structural steel for the seven hundred foot tower which is to complete the block of buildings erected by the Metropolitan Life Insurance company. Out-topped in height by only one man-built structure in the world, the Eiffel tower, and nine stories higher than the tallest office building ever planned, the Metropolitan tower, as the 50-story addition will be known, will cover the plot on which formerly stood the Parkhurst church, at the southeast corner of Madison avenue and Twenty-fourth street.

Champion Athlete of 1906.

New York, Jan. 1.—Martin Sheridan, of the Irish-American Athletic club holds the palm as the greatest all-round athlete of the year 1906. He established an all-round record of 6,800 points, a mark that will probably stand for many years. Besides this, Sheridan broke the world's record for the discus throw and was instrumental in gaing a victory for the American team at the Olympic games in Athens, Greece.

Celebrate Emancipation Day.

New York, Jan. 1.—From the pulpits of the negro churches there was read yesterday a proclamation issued under the auspices of the Afro-American council, of which Bishop Alexander Walter, is president and Dr. L. F. Jordan is secretary, urging negroes to celebrate the forty-third anniversary of the issuance of the emancipation proclamation.

Wounded Wife: Killed Self.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 1.—Believing his wife, whom he shot three times, was dead, Robert Ford, 40 years old, fired a bullet into his own brain, dying instantly. His wife was not fatally injured. Ford, who was extremely jealous, accused his wife of infidelity, and before she could leave his presence he shot her.

ROBBERS HOLD-UP PASSENGER TRAIN

Of the Seaboard Air Line Railroad.

PULLMAN CAR CONDUCTOR SHOT

The Two Robbers Secured $300 in Cash Besides Jewelry from the Passengers—Pulled Emergency Brake Cord and Escaped in Woods.

Richmond, Va., Jan. 1.—Near LaCrosse, Va., on the Seaboard Air Line railroad, at 2:20 o'clock Monday morning, the passengers in the sleeping coach of Train No. 81, out of Richmond, Va., were held up and robbed out of about $300 in cash, besides their jewelry.

The train robbers, two in number, boarded the passenger train at Richmond as passengers, and one of them remained in a day coach while the other went through the sleeper.

The Pullman car conductor, while attempting to arrest the man robbing the passengers, was shot through the arm by the robber.

The robber then pulled the emergency brake cord, stoping the train. Both he and his confederate left the train and escaped to the woods.

Funeral of President Cassatt.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 1.—With services as simple as the rites of the Protestant Episcopal church would permit, the remains of Alexander J. Cassatt, president of the Pennsylvania railroad company, who died suddenly last Friday, were Monday laid to rest in the grave yard of the pretty suburban Church of the Redeemer at Bryn Mawr. Following out the desire of the great railroad president and those of his widow, only a small number of relatives and friends were present as the body was lowered into the grave. The services at the home of Mr. Cassatt were as quiet as those at the grave. There were no pallbearers and by expressed wish of Mrs. Cassatt, the floral offerings were confined to a few laid on the casket by immediate members of the late president's family.

Will Attend Thaw Trial.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 1.—According to the statement of Charles J. Holman, whose wife is the mother of Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, it will not be necessary for District Attorney Jerome of New York to send to Pittsburg for Mrs. Holman's deposition for use in the trial of Harry K. Thaw. Mr. Holman announced that his wife, their son Howard and himself would be in attendance at the trial ready to give any information desired. "I have certain letters bearing on the case locked up in a safe deposit vault," said Mr. Holman. "The nature of these letters," he continued, "cannot be disclosed at this time, except to say that the contents are highly important."

Thaw Branded as a Lunatic.

New York, Jan. 1.—Dr. A. McLane Hamilton, the alienist, returned from a trip to London on the steamer Caronia. Speaking of Harry K. Thaw, who is soon to be tried for the murder of Stanford White, Dr. Hamilton, who some time ago examined Thaw, said: "Thaw is in a dangerous predicament. It is the first time in the history of our own country that a lunatic wants to try his own case. In my opinion, Thaw is worse than Czolgosz. I think that District Attorney Jerome would accept a plea of insanity.

Body of an Old Man Found.

Atlanta, Jan. 1.—The body of an old man of about 50 years, said to be William Smith, was found Sunday afternoon at his home at the corner of Marietta and Magnolia streets, life having been extinct for several days to judge from the condition of the body. He was discovered lying on a cot in the house in which he lived alone. The body was removed to the undertaking establishment of Harry G. Poole & Co., where an inquest will be held.

THE ENDEL BLOCK HAS BEEN SOLD

Was Purchased by T. W. Shands at a Cost of $22,500.

THE BUILDING IS A FINE ONE

Substantially Constructed of Brick, Two Stories High, and Modernly Equipped for Stores and Office Purposes—Possession at Once.

Another important real estate deal, which is one of the most extensive and important for the year just closed, was consummated when T. W. Shands made himself a New Year's present of the big Endel Block, situated on the corner of Liberty and West Main streets. The property was purchased from Marcus Endel, who has been its owner ever since it was erected, in 1885.

This building has a frontage of seventy feet on Liberty and one hundred feet on West Main street, including the small brick building immediately in the rear of the block. It is substantially constructed of brick, two stories, with upper floor fitted for office rooms. On the lower floor is an immense store room, so long occupied by Mr. Endel as a clothing and furnishing shore, and now tenanted by Phifer & Morris for the same purpose.

The sale of this magnificent property by Mr. Endel came as somewhat of a surprise to Mr. Endel's friends here, but inasmuch as he is now making his home in Jacksonville he decided to dispose of the same, since he was made a flat offer of $22,500 by Mr. Shands.

Mr. Shands' friends are congratulating him upon his new possession.

There will be no change in the tenants of the building for some time at least.

A. H. Thurnes, a well known coal operator of Buffalo, O., writes: "I have been afflicted with kidney and bladder troubles for years, passing gravel and stones with exerciating pain. A few doses started the brick dust like fine stones and now I have no pain across my kidneys and I feel like a new man. It has done me $1,000 worth of good." J. W. McCollum & Co.

NEED VINOL

it strengthens and vitalizes

With old age comes feebleness and loss of power; the organs act more slowly and less effectually; the blood is thin, sluggish and watery; digestion is weak and food is not assimilated as it used to be.

Vinol repairs worn tissues and checks the natural decline. It tones up the digestive organs, aids assimilation, makes rich, red blood, and strengthens every organ in the body. In this natural manner Vinol replaces weakness with strength.

Vinol contains all the medicinal elements of cod liver oil in a concentrated form, taken from fresh cods' livers, the useless oil eliminated and tonic iron added.

It is because we know so well of what Vinol is made that we offer to return money if it fails to benefit.—W. M. Johnson, druggist.

NOTE—While we are sole agents for Vinol in Gainesville, it is now for sale at the leading drug store in nearly every town and city in the country. Look for the Vinol agency in your town.

JOTTINGS FROM JUDSON.

Cold Wave Destroyed Gardens—Two Marriages—Other Notes.

Judson, Dec. 31.—The holidays are over, and passed quietly. Everything went off nicely—there were no "drunks" and no rows.

We had two weddings this week. Edin Adams and Miss Mamie Coleman were married on the 23d inst., while O. S. Stalvey and Miss Winnie Small became man and wife on the 25th.

The late cold wave played havoc with the gardens in this section, and also froze what oranges were left on the trees. The thermometer went down to 19 on the mornings of the 25th, 26th and 27th.

Mrs. R. S. Tucker is spending this week with relatives at Newberry and Jonesville.

Several families have been moving around recently. A. B. Moore has gone to Trenton, and John Palmer has moved onto the place Mr. Moore left.

Frank Stockman and Hardy Lew of Double Sink passed through here Saturday en route to Trenton.

Judso Lodge No. 11, F. & A. M., met Thursday and installed officers for the ensuing term as follows: J. D. Knight, Double Sink, W. M.; Jacob F. Dupree, J. W.; Rev. Jas. K. Sheffield, chaplain; J. W. Moore, S. S.; W. J. Sanchez, J. S. The other officers were re-elected, and it was not necessary for them to be reinstalled.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Beauchamp of Bowling Green have been here this week visiting their children, J. R. Beauchamp, Mrs. Jerry Arrington and Mrs. Hardy of Chiefland.

RUN OVER BY TRAIN MET INSTANT DEATH

Fatal Accident to Well Known Negro Character.

MAN WAS NEARLY BLIND

Supposed He Was Walking Along Track and Did Not Hear Train. Definite Information Meagre, But That He Was Killed is a Fact.

An old colored man whose back has been bended by the burden of time and who has been rendered almost blind by the accumulation of years, who had been largely weakened physically from the hardships endured through the long years of his existence, was run down by a train of the Seaboard Air Line Tuesday afternoon and killed.

Despite the fact that every effort has been made to obtain the particulars, it seems that no one knew anything definite about the accident except that it happened, and that the old man, known all over the city for years as "Uncle Green," was dead from the result.

"Uncle Green" has been a familiar figure on the streets of Gainesville for many years. Even a little child will recall his bended, crippled form as he trod along the thoroughfares, always polite, always affable, always possessed of that originality which characterizes the negro of ante-bellum days. He was an object of interest and pity alike, and many a "lift" has the old man received from those who felt kindly towards him. His only avocation seemed to be that of a wood sawyer, and that he has followed for years. He enjoyed a regular trade throughout the city which kept him engaged when he was able to work, with the result that, even in his advanced age, he was a creature of good fortune as far as sustenance was concerned.

But "Uncle Green" is gone forever. He has passed over the river, where he will not be compelled to labor longer, and where he will bloom in his youth again and forever, and where hardships are not known.

Justice Colman, as coroner ex-officio, will probably empanel a jury today when an inquest will be held.

READY SALE FOR FLORIDA HOGS

Florida Cannot Supply the Demand for Her Own Consumption.

A report recently made by one of the officials of a large meat packing company, who has investigated the matter, says in part that Florida cannot supply the demand for pork from her own people. This report is predicated upon the fact that it is impossible to get the Florida razor back or improved breed of hogs to the market, even though good prices have been offered for them in Jacksonville, where the only packing house in the State is located.

This packing house has been forced to send to Georgia and Alabama for the same character of hogs which are raised right here in Florida. The report goes on further to state what can be made from the raising of hogs where a ready market exists, such as the one in Jacksonville. The figures are based upon facts as gathered by the State department of agriculture and indicate that the farmer can do better with the hogs than he can with the cattle that he endeavors to raise for the market. Hogs cost little, and it takes but a few months to raise them and prepare them for market. If the Florida farmer would raise a sufficient number of hogs each year to make up a carload, or club with their neighbors, the packing house in Jacksonville would readily take them off their hands, paying a good price for them.

Sleeping Car Turns Over.

Pembroke, Ky., Jan. 1.—The rear sleeper on the Jacksville and Nashville's St. Louis train jumped the track here Monday morning and turned completely over. Of the 16 passengers in the car, only one, Miss Mary Matson, of Chattanooga, was injured. The train was running at the rate of six miles an hour when the accident occurred.

Do Birds Sympathize?

Animals experience grief over the loss of their young, but not over the death of one of their number. Death itself seems to have no meaning to them. When a bird seems to mourn for its lost mate its act is probably the outcry of the breeding instinct which has been thwarted. Do the birds and mammals sympathize with one another? When one bird utters a cry of distress the birds of other species within hearing will hasten to the spot and join in the cry—at least in the breeding season. I have no proof that they will do it at other times. And I do not call this sympathy, but simply the alarm of the parental instinct, which at this season is very sensitive. The alarm cry of many birds will often put four footed animals on the lookout. The language of distress and alarm is a universal language which all creatures understand more or less. But I doubt if sympathy as we know it—the keen appreciation of the suffering or the misfortune of another, which implies power in a measure to put ourselves in that other's place—even in its rudimentary form, exists among the lower orders. — John Burroughs in "Human Traits In Animals" in Outing Magazine.

THE ART OF SEEING.

Study the World and Get an Education by Absorption.

John Wanamaker was once asked to invest in an expedition to recover doubloons from the Spanish main which for half a century had lain at the bottom of the sea in sunken frigates.

"Young man," he replied, "I know of a better exposition than this right here. Near your own feet lie treasures untold. You can have them all by faithful study.

"Let us not be content to mine the most coal, to make the largest locomotives, to weave the largest quantities of carpets, but amid the sounds of the pick, the blows of the hammer, the rattle of the looms and the roar of the machinery take care that the immortal mechanism of God's own hand, the mind—is still full trained for the highest and noblest service."

The ignorant man is always placed at a great disadvantage. No matter how much natural ability one may have, if he is ignorant he is discounted. It is not enough to possess ability; it must be made available by mental discipline. We ought to be ashamed to remain in ignorance in a land where the blind, the deaf and dumb, where even cripples and invalids, manage to get a good education. The trouble is that many youths throw away little opportunities for self culture because they cannot see great ones, and they let the years slip by without any special effort at self improvement until they are shocked in middle life or later by waking up to the fact that they are still ignorant of what they ought to know.

It is not absolutely necessary that an education should be crowded into a few years of school life. The best educated people are those who are always learning, always absorbing knowledge from every possible source—and at every opportunity. I know young people who have acquired a better education, a finer culture, through a habit of observation or carrying a book or article in the pocket to read at odd moments or by taking courses in correspondence schools than many who have gone through college. Youths who are quick to catch at new ideas and who are in frequent contact with superior minds not only often acquire a personal charm, but, even to a remarkable degree, develop mental power.

The world is a great university. From the cradle to the grave we are always in God's great kindergarten, where everything is trying to teach us its lesson, to give us its great secret. Some people are always at school, always storing up precious bits of knowledge. Everything has a lesson for them. It all depends upon the eye that can see, the mind that can appropriate. Very few people ever learn how to use their eyes. They go through the world with a superficial glance at things. Their eye pictures are so faint and so dim that details are lost, and no strong impression is made on the mind.

The eye was intended for a great educator. The brain is a prisoner, never getting out to the outside world. It depends upon its five or six servants, the senses, to bring it material, and the larger part of it comes through the eye. The man who has learned the art of seeing things looks with his brain.—Success.

FATAL WRECK ON SEABOARD

Fast Mail From Atlanta Strikes Loaded Freight Cars.

Charlotte, N. C., Jan. 1.—The Seaboard Air Line's fast mail No. 32, northbound, from Atlanta to Richmond, crashed into a string of loaded freight cars at Peachland, a flag station, 19 miles east of Monroe, partially wrecking the passenger train, and killing Engineer S. E. Maxwell, of Raleigh.

Running 50 miles an hour, Engineer Maxwell sighted the freight train as he rounded the curve near Peachland, and with concern only for the passengers, whose lives were in his care, he applied the emergency brakes in an effort to moderate the impending crash. The speed was reduced to 10 miles an hour when the train struck the car, and the fireman jumped without being hurt.

Maxwell stuck to his post, was caught between his engine and tender, and slowly roasted to death in view of the rescuers. Helplessly pinned in an upright position with both feet in the firebox, the brave man lived four hours, fully conscious, his last words being a message to his wife and child at Raleigh. No one else was hurt.

Safe Blowers Win a Fortune.

Mobile, Ala., Jan. 1.—Diamonds and jewelry estimated in value at between $10,000 and $12,000, and $200 in money were taken from the vaults of the Sandoz Jewelry company, on Dauphin street, near Royal, some time during Saturday night, by safe blowers, who successfully opened the iron safe of the company with a drill. The greater part of the booty obtained was diamonds. The robbery of the store was not discovered until late in the afternoon. A sledge hammer, brace and a small electric lantern were found in the store. It is regarded as the most daring robbery ever committed in this city.

C., Jan. 1.—The sheriff's posse which went to Mount Zion, the block telegraph station on the Southern railway, 6 miles from here, in response to the appeal for help sent out by Operator Post at that station, returned to Spartanburg and members of the party expressed the opinion that no negroes had attacked the station. Members of the sheriff's party attributed the excitement to fright of the operator.

AN ENCHANTING SCENE.

The Dowling Park correspondent of The Live Oak Democrat writes as follows of a recent scene on the banks of the beautiful Suwannee river:

"Thursday morning 'something new under the sun' for Florida, was revealed to those who, from the east bluff of the Suwannee river at Dowling Park, saw the early sun's rays illumine a scene of enchantment. On the west side was the sparkle and glisten of hoar frost on every leaf and twig from the river edge up, bank upon bank, to the top of the lofty forest trees. Looking down the river bed upon the swift flowing waters of the Suwannee there appeared a bottomless chasm filled with thousands of vaporous clouds rolling over with no apparent cause or purpose except to keep within its warm bluff-sheltered bed. But the vision and illusion was of brief duration. As Old Glory rose higher from his bed in the east the sparkling frost dissolved into mist and the mist on the water disappeared, but each had served its purpose to draw man out from thoughts of self and the sordid things of life to the beauties of nature, the goodness and the infinite power and glory of the God of creation."

Major Wiley G. Toomer, one of Jacksonville's leading business men and a veteran of the Civil war, died Monday morning, December 31st. He was stricken with paralysis last Friday, which caused his death. Major Toomer took the field with his company, the Mobile, Ala., cadets, the first year of the war near Norfolk, Va., and witnessed the famous battle between the Merrimac and the Monitor. He participated in the battles of Drewry's Bluff, Seven Pines, Fair Oaks, Seven Days' Battle before Richmond and the battle of Chancellorsville, where he was wounded and fell into the hands of the federals and was taken to the Lincoln General hospital at Washington, D. C. He was later exchanged and promoted to captain for meritorious service. He was one of the first to take the field in defense of the South and one of the last to leave it, his last engagement being the battle of Bentonville. Major Toomer came to Florida in 1885 and had served the city of Jacksonville as a member of the board of public works and president of the council. For several years he has been secretary and treasurer of the Wilson & Toomer Fertilizer Company. He was 67 years of age.

Should Senator Mallory again be a candidate for the United States Senate the people of Florida would be derelict in their obligations to a faithful public servant if they refused him re-election. There are so few men of his stamp in the highest lawmaking branch of the Nation that his defeat would be a public calamity.

Another batch of prominent Nebraskans have been convicted of land frauds. They were all liberal contributors to Republican campaign funds to prevent the wicked Democrats from getting possession of the government.

Those who chew tobacco will be glad to know that the licorice trust is being prosecuted and that there is "bitter rivalry" and "fierce competition" between it and the tobacco trust.

A LIBEL ON THE COUNTY.

"Without any intention to try to fix the blame on any particular person, the fact remains that the last term of the court had no deterrent effect upon criminals; on the contrary, the large number of important criminal cases left undisposed of upon the docket was an invitation to others to commit similar crimes, with the belief that they would similarly go unpunished; over twenty cases, we learn, are now on the docket, covering such serious crimes as Larceny, Forgery, Perjury, Embezzlement, Bribery, Robbery and Murder, and the jail is full of persons charged with crime unindicted. What can we look for when as many as twenty thieves, robbers and murderers are left untried? What are courts for but to try property rights and parties indicted for crime? It not done at the regular term, it should be done at a special one."—Gainesville Elevator, Dec. 20.

The Sun did not intend to refer to the above libel upon Alachua county, but since it has been copied in some of the State papers we feel it our duty to show the untruthfulness of statements contained therein. The fact is that when the editor of The Elevator penned the article there were only two prisoners in the county jail, towit: James Henry and Sam Hall, both negroes charged with murder. The former was convicted at the spring term of the circuit court, but his case was appealed to the supreme court and the case of Sam Hall was continued at the last term of court upon satisfactory showing to the judge that he had not then had time to secure the presence of witnesses whose evidence was material to the defense. There are at the present time only four prisoners in the county jail, the two besides those referred to being also negroes, John Smith and Ed Akin, charged with murder, who were committed on December 20th—after The Elevator man wrote his article.

The statement of The Elevator that "the jail is full of persons charged with crime unindicted," is therefore proven untrue by the sheriff's docket.

At the last term of the circuit court, presided over by Judge Bascom Palmer of Lake City, thirty-eight criminal cases were tried and sentence passed, and we have not heard any complaint from law-abiding people of the county as to the lightness of sentence in a single case. On the contrary, in not a few instances sentences imposed were regarded by many as too severe. True, twenty cases were continued, but only one of these was for murder, and in each case the court required satisfactory showing on the part of defendants, or the prosecuting attorney, before continuance was granted, nineteen of the twenty having given bond.

The fall term of the circuit court of Alachua county was noted for the dispatch with which business was transacted and justice meted out to lawbreakers, yet The Elevator would have people believe that it "had no deterrent effect upon criminals," and that "the jail is full of persons charged with crime unindicted."

Nice article, indeed, to appear in the Christmas number of a paper pretending to be published for the best interests of Gainesville and Alachua county. There is no excuse whatever for the publication of such misstatements. The records were of easy access, and the sheriff and clerk of the court are as accommodating officials as are to be found in any State of the Union.

Owing to the extensive turpentine and phosphate industries in Alachua county, in which all classes of labor is employed, crime is probably more prevalent, in proportion to population, especially among the negroes, than in counties where these industries are not so extensively engaged in, but among the whites there is not a more law-abiding people on the face of the earth than those who live in Alachua county.

Those papers which gave publicity to the Elevator article, owe it to the people of Alachua county to make correction of the same.

If as many people attend the Southern Cotton Association, which meets in Birmingham on January 17, as were at the New Orleans meeting last year, $5,000 alone will be saved the delegates in railroad fare. This point is one of the strongest used by the committee in landing the convention. In addition to the money made the delegates will save considerable time both on their trip to and from Birmingham. Three years ago, when the first convention of the Cotton Association was held there were only 700 people present. At the New Orleans meeting last January there were 4,200. According to the rate of increase the Birmingham meeting should be attended by 6,000 people.

Senator Foraker has startled President Roosevelt with his fire alarm call to the Senate to stand by the colored soldiers.

Black Rod's Knock.

What is the meaning of this hostile banging of the door of the house of commons in Black Rod's inoffensive face? Why must the king's messenger humbly knock three times for admission and wait submissively on the mat outside until the representatives of the people decide to open their doors unto him? It is one of several quaint and curious customs still preserved in parliament, a survival from a period of history when the house of commons was not so free and independent or so sacred from royal intrusion as it has been since the revolution.—Michael Macdonagh in Grand Magazine.

Nothing New Under the Sun.

Slang phrases in course of time become absorbed into the vernacular just in the same way that nonsense rhymes and nursery verses become institutions. Take the following example. The famous lines

Mother, may I go out to swim?
Yes, my darling daughter.
Hang your clothes on a hickory limb
And don't go near the water.

are at least 1,300 years old, being found in a book of jests of the sixth century compiled by Hierocles!—London Chronicle.

The Forest Spirit.

The editor was criticising the poem just brought in by the literary contributor.

"You speak of the 'spirit of the forest,'" he said. "Do you think there is such a thing as a forest spirit, as distinguished from any other kind?"

"Yes, sir," fiercely responded the literary contributor. "Didn't you ever hear of such a thing as wood alcohol?"—Chicago Tribune.

THE IDEAL BREAKFAST.

A Meal That Gives the Best Returns In Force and Energy.

"It is more important that the breakfast should be a substantial and suitable meal than any other of the day," said Dr. E. H. Bartley of the Long Island Medical college. "We don't want a heavy breakfast, but it should be one from which we get quick returns in force and energy. The old simile of comparing the body with a furnace holds good in every detail. At night the engineer closes the draft, banks his fire and lets it smolder through the hours. In the morning he shakes the grate and opens the draft, but this is not enough. He must put on fresh fuel, and he prefers something that will ignite quickly. In the morning both body and mind are sluggish and vitality low. It needs not only both fresh air and exercise, but also food, and food that will digest quickly and furnish a speedy stimulus, bring color to the cheek, warmth to the extremities, elasticity to the step and alertness to the mental faculties.

"In their anxiety for this quick stimulus many people take hot water or alcoholic drinks in the morning. But the universal morning stimulant is coffee. The active principle of coffee is caffeine. Under the influence of this substance thought flows more easily, the mental faculties are quickened, and feelings of lassitude and drowsiness pass away. For this reason it is a bad night drink and a good morning drink. One cup of coffee in the morning will not hurt any healthy person. Several cups are undoubtedly excess, and the practice of children going to school or men and women going to work on a breakfast of coffee alone is absolutely to be condemned. Coffee taken copiously in the morning stimulates the activities and satisfies the craving for food, but the person who makes his breakfast of it or who drives himself to work on coffee when he is tired is setting the pace that kills. Tea is very similar in all its effects to coffee. Chocolate is a true food, especially when made with milk. It contains from 30 to 60 per cent of fat and is very nourishing. But it is a sedative, not a stimulant. It produces a feeling of drowsiness and heaviness, which makes it a good night drink for wakeful persons. This comes from the cocoa butter, which is not easily absorbed into the system and so lies in the stomach for a time. Any one who took chocolate as constantly as most persons do tea and coffee would have indigestion and dyspepsia. Taken occasionally, it is a nutritious food.

"We do not want beefsteak in the morning. Its return in force and energy is too slow. The very best of all breakfast meats is bacon. There are a few persons who have what we call 'fat indigestion' who cannot take bacon. But every one else, even babies a year and a half old, can take it healthfully, especially for breakfast. It stimulates the gastric juices to do their work of digestion, and we get a quick return from it in force and energy. An eminent English surgeon has said that the best preparation for a hard day's work is a good breakfast with plenty of bacon.

"The ideal breakfast is one cup of coffee, a cereal with sugar and milk and bacon. We get the quickest return in energy from sugar, fat and starch. The bone and muscle building elements are slower in their action, and we can take them at other meals when the furnace is fairly started for the day."—New York Tribune.

Early Balloon Tragedy.

Count Zambeccari, the balloonist, had at least two warnings of the terrible fate that finally befell him. Twice his balloon descended in the Adriatic sea, and he was only rescued from the waves when death seemed certain. But Nemesis overtook him one September day in 1812. When he was descending after a trip from Bologna his balloon caught fire when about 100 feet from the ground. The count leaped from the car and was picked up dead, while his companion suffered terrible injuries, from which, however, he recovered.

Less than three months after this tragedy two French aeronauts, De Rozier and Romain, attempted to cross the English channel from Boulogne in a gas balloon thirty-seven feet in diameter, beneath which was suspended a smaller fire balloon. When the aeronauts had ascended about 3,000 feet the spectators were horrified to see the balloon burst into a mass of flames and drop toward the earth with the speed of a jent rocket. Rozier was dashed to pieces and killed on the spot, and Romain only survived a few minutes.

Discretion.

"This popular fiction is all rot. In real life the girl's father seldom objects to the man of her choice."

"You're wrong there. He often objects, but he's usually too wise to say anything."—Pittsburg Post.

STRIKING IT RICH.

The Experience of a Gold Hunter In Australia.

Tales of treasure finding always possess a fascination for all classes of readers. Even the mature mind seldom loses its delight in such stories. Mr. Whitmarsh in "The World's Rough Hand" describes his own experiences as a fortune hunter. At the time of which he writes he was a young fellow and with his older and more experienced partner, Sam, was in Australia seeking for gold.

We had just finished our midday meal. Early in the morning I had crossed an old track leading to some deserted workings near by and on it had picked up a piece of honeycombed mineral which I could not place. I thought of it now and tossed it over to Sam, saying: "Here's a curious bit of stuff I found. It looks volcanic."

Sam laughed.

"I don't wonder it puzzled you, sonny," he said. "It's a bit of coke, dropped from a wagon probably."

He threw it back at me, and I carelessly began to pound it between two bits of rock. Suddenly one of the stones split. The fracture was hollow, containing grapelike clusters of dark green.

"Well, here's something new, anyway," I said.

Sam's face changed as he looked at the stone. He tried the green substance with his knife. It cut like wax.

"Chloride silver!" he cried. "Where did you find it?"

I showed him the exact spot, and he wildly scrambled round on his hands and knees. No stone like it was to be found.

"It doesn't belong here," asserted Sam. "Being round, it rolled down the hill, and it may have rolled a long way."

"It couldn't have come far," said I, pointing to a thick scrub growth.

"That's nothing. The scrub is perhaps fifty years old, while the stone may have been working down for 50,000 years. We'll look up the hill."

We took a direct line toward the summit of the range. Near a small hill with a black, uneven crest we found some more of the peculiar round stones.

"Yonder's our pile, lad," said Sam.

The crest of the small hill proved to be the source of rich specimens. A few moments' work with the pick laid bare a seam of ore seven feet in width. As long as I live I shall never forget the excitement and crazy joy that I felt.

We had not taken a miner's right and could not legally peg ont a claim. Sam left me to guard our find and started for town. That afternoon was a gloriously happy one. I stretched myself out at full length, pulled my hat over my eyes and built air castles. In less than four hours Sam returned. He had walked ten miles, taken out a miner's right and procured some tools. Our claim was safe.

The Fly Casting Pretense.

While our knowledge of these things does not exact from us an independent protest against constantly repeated praise of the qualities of trout and of fly casting as a means of taking them, it perhaps adds to the spirit and emphasis of our dissent when we are told that fly casting for trout is the only style of fishing worthy of cultivation and that no other method ought to be undertaken by a true fisherman. This is one of the deplorable fishing affectations and pretenses which the sensible rank and file of the fraternity ought openly to expose and repudiate. Our irritation is greatly increased when we recall the fact that every one of these superrefined fly casting dictators when he fails to allure trout by his most scientific casts will chase grasshoppers to the point of profuse perspiration and turn over logs and stones with feverish anxiety in quest of worms and grubs, if haply he can with these save himself from empty handedness. Neither his fine theories nor his exclusive faith in fly casting so develops his self denying heroism that he will turn his back upon fat and lazy trout that will not rise.—From Grover Cleveland's "Fishing and Shooting Sketches."

A Historian's Joke.

Macaulay is not usually regarded as a humorous writer, but in his "History of England" he perpetrates the following in relating the death of Charles II. He says: "Several of the prescriptions have been preserved. One of them is signed by fourteen doctors. He recovered his senses, but he was evidently in a situation of extreme danger."

How to Avoid Pneumonia.

We have never heard of a single instance of a cold resulting in pneumonia or other lung trouble when Foley's Honey and Tar has been taken. It not only stops the cough, but heals and strengthens the lungs. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar and refuse any substitute offered. Dr. C. J. Bishop of Agnew, Mich., writes: "I have used Foley's Honey and Tar in three very severe cases of pneumonia with good results in every case." J. W. McCollum & Co.

MACHINE GUNS DISAPPEAR.

Firearms of Heavy Caliber and Small Arms Smuggled into Cuba.

Havana, Jan. 1.—The statement is made here that several thousand rifles and machine guns reported to have been landed recently in Pinar Del Rio province and hidden in the woods near Mariel have been as secretly taken away. The recent movement of troops and police, which was considered mysterious in the light of Governor Magoon's statement that there was no fear of a rising in Cuba, is explained by this announcement, as it is now known that the movement was in the nature of a search for these arms. The possibility of a clash between Cuban and American troops is considered remote. Just who is responsible for the shipment of the arms into Cuba is not known. It is feared that the arms are now in the possession of the negroes in the province.

Cleveland Improving Slowly.

New York, Jan. 1.—Former President Grover Cleveland, who has been ill for a week at his home in Princeton is improving slowly. His physician, Dr. John N. Carnochan, however, entertains hopes of the former president's recovery within a week or so, if no further unfavorable symptoms develop.

Confessed to Murder of Woman.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 1.—John G. Price, who has been under arrest in this city since Dec. 8, according to a statement made by Captain of Detectives Donaghy, has confessed that he murdered Mrs. Maurice Lewis at No. 2103 North Eleventh street, on the afternoon of Sept. 19.

$22,000 Damage Caused by Fire.

Atlanta, Jan. 1.—As near as it could be estimated the fire that broke out Saturday night at 11 o'clock, but was not discovered until about 12:35 Sunday morning, caused a damage in the aggregate of about $22,000, covering both loss to building and stock therein contained.

Two Men Killed on Southern R. R.

Danville, Va., Jan. 1.—Two persons were killed outright and two more injured in a freight wreck on the Southern railway, at Chatham, 17 miles north of here. All of the victims were probably beating their way. While rounding a sharp curve eight cars of No. 83, a southbound through freight, jumped the track and were piled up in a heap. Webster and His Tenant.

Daniel Webster once became the owner of some land in New Hampshire, with buildings thereon. He left the tenant who was there when the premises were conveyed to him in possession. One summer a few years later as he and his wife were journeying in the vicinity of the farm they decided to take a look at it. He found an aged woman in charge. She said in reply to questions that the place belonged to a lawyer down in Boston named Webster.

"What rent do you pay?" asked the amused owner.

"Rent!" she exclaimed. "I don't pay any rent. It is bad enough to live here without having to pay for it, and if he don't fix up the house soon I'll leave anyhow. Wonder if he expects I'm going to freeze to death this cold weather?"

"Well," remarked the proprietor, "it is a pretty hard case, but if you'll accept this five dollar bill toward holding on another year I'll try to see Mr. Webster and have something done about it."

With which remark he took final leave of his farm.—Boston Herald.

An Organized Holdup.

An English Christmas isn't a beggarfest, it's a beggingfest. The band plays, but it plays with one hand while the other is out for coin. The boys and men sing Christmas hymns and then take a collection, and the moon may be shining, but you can't see it through the fog. Some of the railway stations are decorated, and you've scarcely had time to remark that you think it's a very beautiful custom when an itching palm appears between you and the holly. The postman says, "Merry Christmas," and waits for you to be generous, and the lamplighter and the paper boy and the man who delivers groceries and the boy from the cake shop. Porters follow you wherever you go, and servants whom you never saw before bob up in numbers. And out in the street when ever you hear any one say "Merry Christmas" you mechanically put your hand in your pocket. It isn't Christmas, it's an organized holdup.—Boston Herald.

Do Animals Commit Suicide?

I do not believe that animals ever commit suicide. I do not believe that they have any notions of death or take any note of time or ever put up any bluff game or ever deliberate together or form plans or forecast the seasons. They may practice deception, as when a bird feigns lameness or paralysis to decoy you away from her nest, but this, of course, is instinctive and not conscious deception. There is at times something that suggests co-operation among them, as when wolves hunt in relays, as they are said to do, or when they hunt in couples, one engaging the quarry in front while the other assaults it from the rear; or when quail roost upon the ground in a ring, their tails to the center, their heads outward, or as when cattle or horses form a circle when attacked in the open by wild beasts, the cattle with their heads outward and the horses with their heels. Of course all this is instinctive and not the result of deliberation. The horse always turns his tail to the storm as well, and cows and steers, if I remember rightly, turn their heads.—John Burroughs in Outing Magazine.

The Actor and the Man.

Great painters, sculptors, musicians and actors are careful not to lose their heads in the tumult of their emotions. Edwin Booth, so far as is known, never threw himself into his character but on one occasion, and then he was playing Bertuccio in "The King's Fool." It is related that he came off the stage at the conclusion of the performance convinced that he had surpassed all of his previous efforts and that he was excited, thrilled, tingling with the emotions of the character into which he had blindly cast himself, but his daughter, Elwina Booth, who had been sitting in a stage box, told him she had never seen him act so badly. For that one performance Booth deliberately had chosen to be the man and not the artist.

Tedious Work of Old Bookmakers.

During the twelfth and thirteenth centuries monks frequently isolated themselves from the world and reproduced the Bible in illuminated manuscript. The work was necessarily slow, and in no instance was it accomplished in less than thirty-five years. Guido de Jars was a producer of these illuminated manuscripts, and a beautiful specimen of his work was sold along with the books of Sir W. Burrell in 1790. This copy of the Bible had occupied half a century in its production. A note in the beginning of the manuscript in Jars' handwriting indicates that he began his task in 1244 and did not conclude it till 1294.

The Circle.

The ratio of the circumference of a circle to its diameter was first ascertained to some degree of exactness by Van Ceuten, a Dutchman. He found that if the diameter of a circle was 1 the circumference would be 3.14159265358979323846264338327950288 nearly, which is exactly true to thirty-six places of decimals and was effected by the continual bisection of an arc of a circle, a method so extremely laborious that it cost him incredible pains.

Indian Hemp and Catalepsy.

A single grain of the resin of Indian hemp will produce catalepsy in a man. A few hours are required for the effects to reach a climax, when his limbs may be placed in almost any position without difficulty, and when once placed they remain in the given position indefinitely, although the natural influence of gravity would cause them to fall. During the catalepsy the body is usually insensible to all impressions.

Spider Web Fishing Nets.

The natives of New Guinea employ extraordinary fishing nets of spider's web to capture fish weighing up to a pound. They fix bamboos bent in the shape of a landing frame in the jungle, and the spiders weave their net all over the frame. The method of fishing is to watch for a passing fish and then to dip it out and throw it on dry land.

NEW YEAR SERVICE.

Early Morning Service at Presbyterian Church Well Attended.

The early morning New Year service at the First Presbyterian church was well attended, not only by members of that church but of churches of all protestant denominations of the city. As a result the church was well filled, notwithstanding the early hour at which the service was held, 7:30 o'clock.

Rev. Thomas P. Hay took as his theme "Glorious Hope." He spoke eloquently and with earnestness, and his remarks, which were appropriate to the occasion, were listened to with a great deal of interest.

Beggar Prince Opera Company.

The banner musical attraction of the season at the opera house the nights of Friday and Saturday, Jan. 4 and 5, will be the latest offering of the Beggar Prince Opera Company, when they will present the three-act comic opera, "Birds of a Feather."

Mr. Walter Kusell, the genial agent, says the success of the opera has been phenomenal, playing to crowded houses nightly. The company this season is a larger one, carrying their own special scenery, electrical effects and gorgeous costumes. All the favorites will be seen, including Miss Etta Merris, Miss Vivian Forrest, Miss Lovett Nickle, Mr. Fred Godding, Mr. Harry Perrill and the famous beauty chorus. Mr. Harry LeaVelle, the tenor, who is so well known in this section, will during the opera be heard in several of the latest tenor solos now being sung. The attraction comes highly guaranteed by both the press and the public. Seats on sale at Vidal's. Prices 35c, 50c and $1.

Mrs. Pitts' New Year Tree.

Mrs. T. W. Pitts, at her home on W. McCormick street, entertained in a clever manner her class in elocution and physical culture Tuesday afternoon, the feature being a New Year tree.

There were about fifteen present, and the little folks enjoyed themselves in the rear parlor and dining-room for an hour, the principal feature of this part of the program being the dancing of the Virginia reel, which created lots of fun. The guests were then ushered into the front parlor, where a bountiful holly tree, illuminated by candles, was seen. This was the signal for an exclamation of delight, as it was one of the handsomest trees seen here this season.

After presents had been generously distributed and delicious refreshments served the guests departed, wishing Mrs. Pitts and her charming little daughter, Miss Curtis, many succeeding happy new years.

A Delightful Occasion.

The smaller children of the Presbyterian Sabbath school were royally entertained at the home of Mrs. Geo. S. Merchant, West Liberty street, Tuesday afternoon, as a reward of their faithfulness for the year 1906.

There was a large number present, and the afternoon was passed in juvenile games, all of which were enjoyed in that manner in which only a child can enjoy.

During the afternoon an abundance of delicious fruits, nuts, candies, etc., were distributed, and the little folks returned to their respective homes more delighted than ever that they were a part of the Presbyterian Sabbath school.
